

Building socially & Environmentally resilient partnerships

CALLANZ webinar September 2021

A photograph of a dense tropical forest. Sunlight filters through the thick canopy of green leaves and branches, creating a dappled light effect on the forest floor. Various types of plants, including long-leafed grasses and ferns, are visible in the foreground and midground. The overall atmosphere is one of a vibrant, undisturbed natural environment.

Working with local and indigenous communities

Bringing diverse communities together.

Valuing their knowledge of their local landscapes, the issues they face and their aspirations for their communities.

Creating space for relationships to be built between projects
and people.
